2012 Year 8's advice to the Year 8's of 2013
Student A – Letter of Advice

Dear students,
So I hear that you want to come to St Patrick’s College. If so, then here are some tips and what to expect:
Try and get yourself into as many school related activities as possible.

- Be nice to your teachers and sometimes you will receive a positive. (A positive is what you receive from teachers for being good. If you receive three or more positives in a fortnight, you will receive a letter sent home to your parents.)

- Wear the correct uniform and always wear your formal uniform on Wednesdays for school assembly.

- Participate in sporting events to earn points for your house and be a good sport.

- Don’t be slack with what you write, copy down as much information in your books as you can.

- During tests and exams, use your time wisely and have a go at most if not all of the questions.

- Be nice to your fellow students and don’t take everything to heart.

- If you don’t understand something, ask for help.

- If you can’t find your way to a certain place, ask an older student, they will always try their best to help you.

- Remember your locker combination and how to open your locker as it will help you to store your books.

- Do all assignments to the best of your ability.

- Make as many friends as you can, when you are familiar with even a senior student, a smile always helps when you are feeling down.

Well, I think that is about as much advice as I can give. Good luck in high school guys.
Dear Year 8s of 2013.
I’m going to give you a quick simple guide to getting ready for your new life at high school.

To start with, high school is definitely not as scary as you think it is. It’s in fact so much fun with new limits and adventures to be examined. But to begin, you will need to know about the exams and assignments.

Throughout the school year, you’ll get many assignments and exams. To be ready and organised for them is important. As soon as you get a revision sheet for exams, I recommend you to start revising and studying so you can get and do the best possible you can and achieve good marks.

Secondly, for assignments, as soon as you get the assignment you should do a bit of it every day so you don’t fall behind and also so you keep on track on things instead of rushing it on the last minute.

Dear Year 7 students.
Here are some tips and advice to get through high school.

😊 You should always give everything a go, for example sport. You may not like or enjoy the sport but you can have a great time and you may even score points towards your house.
😊 Take part in extra-curricular activities such as plays, musicals and competitions. If you do them with a bunch of friends or even one you can have such a great time.
